

the Wakefield DAILY ITEM

Family-owned publication serving Wakefield for 114 Years • 50¢ Newsstand, 55¢ Home Delivery

Page 3

How to protect and stay in your home

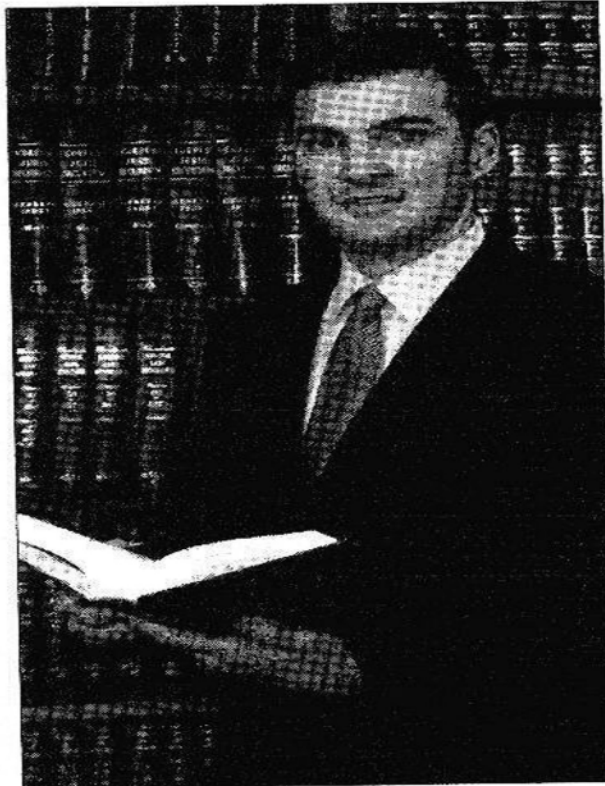

Atty. Curley to present seminar

MALDEN - On Feb. 26, Attorney Patrick G. Curley will offer an educational presentation at Mystic Valley Elder Services (MVES) on "Home Sweet Home: Legal steps you can take to protect your home and stay in your home." Free to the public, the presentation will be from 10 to 11 a.m. at MVES in Malden.

This presentation will offer proven strategies for protecting the family home. Attorney Curley will review the role of Trusts, the importance of avoiding guardianship, the benefits and limitations of a Homestead Declaration and the legal impact of different forms of real estate ownership. He will also review ways of staying in your home by securing MassHealth (Medicaid) or other public benefits at home. Whether you (or an elder family member) are pre-planning or in the midst of crisis, this session will give you valuable, proven strategies for protecting your most important asset: The family home.

Attorney Curley's presentation will be the first in a six-part series directed toward elders and offered by a variety of respected elder care professionals. "We're happy to kick off the series with Attorney Curley," said Sean Maney, the director of Marketing at MVES. Future presentations will include financial planning, orthopedic wellness, heart health and finding a meaningful volunteer position.

PATRICK G. CURLEY

Coffee and pastries will be offered at the presentation. If you would like to attend Curley's presentation, please reserve a space by calling Molly Osborn at MVES at 781-388-2367. MVES is located at 300 Commercial St., #19, in Malden.